Cynefin's Minerals Planning Service

Cynefin has recently combined its in-house planning expertise with the practical knowledge and experience of the "Slate Ecology Company" to launch a new service designed specifically for minerals operators in North Wales.

We are now able to offer a comprehensive service from the preparation of an initial planning application to the implementation and management of a landscaping condition, all in a manner tailored to meet your site's specific needs.

Cynefin moves to New York!

Cynefin has recently established a new office at the refurbished nineteenth century New York Cottages in Penmaenmawr.

Company Chairman Professor Tom Pritchard OBE explains:

"In addition to the fifteen years that we have spent providing services for clients largely in Gwynedd and Anglesey, we have recently been undertaking more and more work in North East Wales. Penmaenmawr offers us an excellent strategic location for meeting the needs of our expanding client list across the region. New York Cottages are themselves an example of the type of sustainable economic development that our company has been promoting over the years, and we are very much looking forward to developing the business opportunities provided by the new location."
